Get general news and product information about Phoenix Contact - the global market leader of Electrical Engineering, Electronics and Automation.

Our Company

Our target is to create “Solutions for the future” with more than 14.000 international colleagues in 50 sales subsidiaries and 30 representations around the world.

Our Products

Our solutions are used wherever processes need to run automatically. This may be in industrial production facilities, in the field of renewable energies, in infrastructure or for complex device connection. They are used wherever current and data flow and need to be connected, distributed, and controlled. The benefits of our products go beyond their pure function: they help our partners to design more efficient processes and reduce costs.

Our Company Culture

Creativity and enthusiasm are positive and infectious. They are the foundation for innovation which is essential for how we do business.

Your Career

Accompany us on the path to the future of technology. We offer creative latitude in various fields, including opportunities for further development. We are constantly expanding our globally significant and, in many business divisions, leading position. Become a part of our success story.
